

Permission to Publish Agreement¹

Adam Mazel

2023

1. Parties: This agreement is between the “Author(s)” and Indiana University.

2. “Work”: This agreement pertains to the following “Work”:

Title: Through the Looking Glass: I. Why Cross-Fertilize?

3. Rights: The “Author(s)” affirm that they are the creators and/or the holders of any proprietary rights in the above-named “Work,” and can convey the rights granted in this document. Any encumbrances of those rights are noted in an attached document. You also represent that your submission does not, to the best of your knowledge, infringe upon anyone’s copyright. If the “Work” contains material for which you do not hold copyright, then you represent that such third-party-owned material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the “Work,” and that you either have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner to grant the rights required by this license to Indiana University, or that you are permitted to use that material through applying fair use law informedly, reasonably, and in good faith.

¹This contract is based on the “Permission to Publish Agreement” of the Office of Scholarly Communication, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Libraries, the “Sample Author Agreement, eScholarship Publishing” of the California Digital Library, and the IUScholarWorks Repository License.

If the “Work” is sponsored or supported by an agency or organization other than Indiana University, you represent that you have fulfilled any right of review or other obligations required by such contract or agreement.

If you are submitting the “Work” on behalf of the rights holder, you must have the rights holder’s written permission to accept this agreement on their behalf.

The “Author(s)” also affirm and warrant that the “Work” contains no material that is slanderous or libelous or violates any laws or legal judgments.

4. Indemnification: The “Author(s)” indemnify and hold Indiana University harmless against loss, damages, expenses, awards, and judgments arising from any breach of the above agreements.

5. Permission to Publish: The “Author(s)” grant to Indiana University both the non-exclusive, perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free permission to distribute the “Work” throughout the world in all means of expression by any method or media, and the non-exclusive, perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free permission to license others, including databases or printing vendors, to do any or all of the above on a non-exclusive basis.

You agree that Indiana University may, without changing the content, reformat the submission to any medium or format, now known or later developed, for preservation or access, and provide basic metadata that describes the contents for discovery. You also agree that Indiana University may keep more than one copy of this submission for security, back-up, and preservation.

6. Retention of Rights: The “Author(s)” retain unto themselves and do not transfer their ownership or proprietorship of all rights in the “Work,” including copyright, and may publish or dispose of them elsewhere without limitation.

7. Date: The effective date of this agreement shall be the last date of the signatures below.
